Anything

I'm coming home, coming home

Everybody's got their loves, to live as they will find But for me it's just ordinary day Confided in my mind, within a certain space I know that time is moving on Can't help but think that you'll be gone

After all that we've been through I can?t believe the time has come When I'll be coming back to you

I'm coming home, coming home Where I belong, when I get home
