Worms and Angels

Here and now, we are alone Time, she will hold her breath Only the worms and angels

Know our names But they have not found us Although they surround us I feel the distance closing

Come along, for you and I know We've lived through the centuries We've ridden the darkest horses

All our lives We hunted our enemies We fought with a fallacy It's time we were all God's children

Far away, the galaxies soar The stars are exploding still I wish we could fly away Fly away

Here and now, for you and I know That true love is deathless These crumbling days are ending

By my side Let's walk in the garden We'll sleep in the ivy We'll be with the worms and angels

Echobelly