

Help me fall asleep my dear
Hold me in your soft arms
Kiss me so gentle
And full of admiration kiss
Your scarf had been woven by witches
When you were covering your lovers
With a cobweb stealing a kiss from death
Don't say a word... I can't remember
That night... I want to forget
When you and your brother-shadow
In total silence in the midst of snakes
As solace in pain
You were born with wail of stars
The tumult of the battle was fading
And anger set in my veins
When by the power of your commandments
You woke me up
Now my blood is blended with wine
My fist is tightened by wild passion
Enough of fear
Enough of despair
Enough of sorrow!
Enough of stupefaction
Enough of bending your head
You can hear the lament of the dying
I will raise Versuvia's sword
The geyser of hatred will explode
It will spit the juice of its guts out
Ulcerated foetus of my thoughts
My rotten daydream
Angry grimace on my face
Death slips on it
Cursing its own pride
Biting its lips in pain
Oh, my priestess
I've got the ocean of fire around
It's my forest of hope burning