Guilty Concience

Eddie Cochran

Guilty concience, don't you have a guilty concience Honey when you hold someone new When you look into his eyes and tell him all those lies Honey don't your concience bother you Don't your concience bother you when your hear my name Knowin' how you hurt your darlin' Should fill your heart with shame Guilty concience, guilty concience Honey don't your concience bother you Guilty concience, don't you have a guilty concience When you hold another in my place When you're walkin' by his side, dear are you satisfied Or does a guilty concience bother you I still remember all the things you said that wasn't true And when you're holding someone else don't you remember too Guilty concience, guilty concience Honey don't your concience bother you

Guilty concience, don't you have a guilty concience
Honey when you hold someone new
When you know that it is smart, you jump from heart to heart
Honey don't your concience bother you
You told me once that you would love me till eternity
And now you're tellin' someone else the same as you told me
Guilty concience, guilty concience
Don't a guilty concience bother you
