MyEarthDream

Edenbridge

We, to tell dead straight We harbour an illusion Estranged, all got out of hand There's method in our madness We crave for greenfield land

Plaintive cries Our demise Evil hour

No dim glow just pain We're leaving behind a stain We're casting stones in the glass house of our promised land Neverland (Never, Neverland)

Haunting beauty, second to none Creator of life, under the sun

Myearthdream, oasis of light (The) road ahead, powers unite Myearthdream, oasis of prime Karma cleansed, turn on a dime

What if, the twain shall meet again As in days of old Blind alley, an aimless walk We bite the hands that feed us But who cares when money talks

Plaintive cries Our demise Evil hour

When time is of the essence here We learnt to live in abject fear We take it for granted and claim the moral high ground And compound

Haunting beauty, second to none Creator of life, under the sun

Myearthdream, oasis of light (The) road ahead, powers unite Myearthdream, oasis of prime Karma cleansed, turn on a dime

Our world restored to former glory Writing a new story Before the sands of time running out for us

The green lung bleeds, this path misleads We came and smiled, grinded the faces of the wild

What goes around will come around We reap the bitter harvest here

And we threw all caution to the winds (We're) covering a multitude of sins Further afield, is our fate sealed? Agent of change Where are you, come to rearrange Return to grace, a newborn place It is never to late to mend Fools rush in where angels dare to tread Truth will out, see to where our hopeless way has lead Can you tell me why? We didn't hear the call The bigger we are, the harder we fall Smoke and mirrors rule An irony of fate We fight at every turn, destroy what we create Plaintive cries Our demise Evil hour Human, hopelessly A long way to learn Some little crumbs of sense, full steam astern An enlightened age Should create a force To put the world to rights, let nature take its course Haunting beauty, second to none Creator of life, under the sun Myearthdream, oasis of light The road ahead, powers unite Myearthdream, oasis of prime Karma cleansed, turn on a dime The last card to play Myearthdream, a world in shine Back to the grand design It is five to noon, and I still wish for the moon Our restless pace has slowed We have come to the end of the road At the crossroads where we are Hello, this is our last card Let the slumbers never end Believe for a moment in time No more grey and dreary deeds Just a sliver of light My earth dream