Well Worn Hand

Wake up my love Today I heard some bad news Just what are we all supposed to do? I won't let them get to you

I don't want to go out on my own anymore I cant face the night like I used to before

Take my well worn hand Let's lock ourselves away We'll never, ever step outside We'll curl up in a ball and hide

I don't want to go out on my own anymore I cant face the night like I used to before

I don't want to go out on my own anymore I cant face the night like I used to before I'm so sorry for the things that they've done I'm so sorry about what we've all become Editors
