I know the sun will rise
Just like the stars in the skies

Hey there busy boy why are you so blue Walking around in your Armageddon shoes You say you got nothing, you got nothing left to lose Boy if they were free, you still would not have a clue

I know the sun will rise
Just like the stars in the skies
Just like every time you look at me with loving in your eyes
I know the sun will rise

You're talking to the mystics, you got psychics on the phone What a silly waste of time
You talk about lonely but you never were alone
Boy you just got to clear your mind

I know the sun will rise Just like the stars in the skies Just like every time you look at me with loving in your eyes I know the sun will rise

Why must it be some big mystery Tell me, why can't it just be alright

I know the sun will rise Just like the stars in the skies Just like every time you look at me with loving in your eyes I know the sun will rise

I know the sun will rise Just like the stars in the skies Just like every time you look at me with loving in your eyes I know the sun will rise
