Throw It All Away

Edwin McCain

It's taken all this time to work you out And if I wasn't sure before now I'm in no doubt You're running out of things to say and I can see it in your fa ce You're going to throw it all away

Makes no difference what you say cause you can't hide it Cause every moment slips away there's no denying That I know, yes I know You're going to throw it all away

You've been running for so long you've lost your way It doesn't matter what you do it's getting closer every day You're running out of things to say and I can see it in your fa ce You're going to throw it all away

You're going to throw it all away You're going to throw it all away You're going to throw it all away
