Wild At Heart

Edwin McCain

Sometimes I wish there were two of me One to stay at home, the other runs free One man to hold you, the other's long gone Chasing the girls, laughing til dawn

I'm just wild at heart This battle is raging inside This double fantasy tears me apart I'm wild at heart I'm wild at heart

I can't fill this hole in my life The bottom is endlessly deep You're the lucky one 'cause you know who you want And I wrestle demons alone while you sleep

Love your way and the things that you say But this loneliness creeps in my mind I should be happy to live out this life But it feels like I'm running out of time
