

Parent Song

Eggnoise

I was an ordinary baby
I had two ears and two eyes, but a whole new way of seeing things
I didn't talk about it, but I've always felt alone between you two

It wasn't easy to educate me
And all the teachers had a hard time to keep me at least a bit concentrated
I didn't look around much, but I listened to the voices in my mind

Tell me who,
(Who...)
Sharing losses and chances,
(...gets as loved or desired from whom?)
We go on with no help from above
(Is it true that we pass...)
We pass on what we were given,
(...all our failures to the ones that we love)
All our failures to the ones that we love
Are we cursed, are we damned, are we both?

Then I met a girl, her name was Julie
We seemed to get along pretty well until I found out that the man inside her bed was her own father
She didn't talk about it, but as relatives they were always kind of close

And we got us inspiration
Because as far as I'm concerned I think I'm a fairly poor example
And it isn't hard to notice that a man like I should have never been conceived

Tell me who,
(Who...)
Sharing losses and chances,
(...gets as loved or desired from whom?)
We go on with no help from above
(Is it true that we pass...)
We pass on what we were given,
(...all our failures to the ones that we love)
All our failures to the ones that we love
Are we good, are we strong, are we both?

Sharing losses and chances,
We go on with no help from above
We pass on what we were given,
Are we good, are we strong, are we loved?

Are you good, are you strong, are you loved?
Are you beat, are you lost, are you loved?
Are you cursed, are you saved, are you loved?
Are you good, are you strong, are you loved?
