

Reggae Woman On The 29th Floor

Elán

I remember reggae woman on the 29th floor
Sometimes summer in the reggae room
She dancing and singing all the day
As she stand behind the door
Heard her vice and body fights
Connect just in her eye saloon

I remember reggae woman, she was captured that young
She touched me herself in flying high
And behind her reggae lover as the sound and old sun
On the wall want shake you round
And I wish to stay or die

Since you're gone reggae woman I know
I got dream to be dreamed
As your move of the river and stream
Never sees to leave and go

I remember reggae woman on the 29th floor
Sitting down and after almost done
As the days of summer standing there in an open door
After she was more than sweet
After all and I'm just one

Since you're gone...

I remember reggae woman on the 29th floor
All her smile is all she left to me
Good enough for me is I can't
I can't see her anymore
She is over need to me
And she told me how to be

Since you're gone...
Since you're gone...
Since you're gone...
