

One With Lunnight

Elane

So alone far away they met once in the gale blind for rain for the way and the aim

And the wind surrounding them not a word passed their lips in the gale in that Glenvores night

Oh your eyes shine so bright like the stars above your head never seen them smiling so bright come with me to my land where the tales will never die come with me oh my sad looking man

And they moved through the woods where the ancient stones will be on the path to the precious green

And they passed Armaghs trees thousand hills to be free in the gale under the starry sky

Oh your eyes shine so bright?
come with me oh my sad looking man

She once glanced took her cape and their eyes shone so bright their eyes became one with lunnight
