

Go Now

Eleanor McEvoy

Forget your things
I'll send them on to you
All your letters
I'll see that you get them too

I'll make sure that you'll receive
Messages that your friends leave
But please now, leave now
I'll call you later on

Go now, go now
Before my tears begin to spill
Oh, won't you go now
Before they flood my face?

For I have not much time you see
Except what pride that's left to me so
Go now, go now, before I lose that too

Leave the talking
'Til some future time ahead
The analyzing
That's really better left unsaid

But may be you could be the one to
Tell our friends what we have done
But please now, leave now
And shut the door behind

Go now, go now
Before my tears begin to spill
Oh, won't you go now
Before they flood my face?

For I have not much time you see
Except what pride that's left to me so
Goo now, go now, before I lose that too
