It's Mine

Eleanor McEvoy

I'm out of my league, I've done it again Can never tell where, can never tell when Just when I swore, I'd had enough Electricity's flying and I'm lit up

And I know, and I know, and I know I know I've been through this before Here I go, here I go
Here I go again, you're on my mind

I want to feel you, put your hands through my hair I want to feel a little fun in the air, we can share All I need is just a piece of you time And well maybe a bottle of wine

If it's early we can go on the town

If you want to we can stay at home and just settle down

Either way I need a piece of your time

And it's mine, and it's mine, and it's mine

They're widening their eyes, they're looking askance They're saying is this some new romance? Others are claiming, they knew all along You could tell there was something going on

And they know, and they know, and they know They know it's none of their concern There they go, there they go, there they go There they go again but we don't mind

I want to feel you, put your hands through my hair I want to feel a little fun in the air, we can share All I need is just a piece of you time And well maybe a bottle of wine

If it's early we can go on the town

If you want to we can stay at home and just settle down

Either way I need a piece of your time

And it's mine, and it's mine, and it's mine

And it's mine, yeah
And I really want it to be
'Cause you're fine, yeah
Yeah you're fine with me, with me

You hear what I'm saying loud and clear You hear what I'm saying when I'm not even near Now don't you flit with me like that My heart's already thumping

'Cause you know, yes you know, yes you know You know how wild you're driving me There you go, there you go There you go again but never mind

I want to feel, you put your hands through my hair I want to feel a little fun in the air, we can share

All I need is just a piece of you time And a bottle of Beaujolais wine

If it's early we can go on the town

If you want to we can stay at home and just settle down

Either way I need a piece of your time

And it's mine, and it's mine
