

Eat Shit and Die

Electric President

We sat on the edge of the world and tossed things off
Said nothing and had no need to
Our bloody handprints smeared the refuge
And I don't think I knew at the time
That I'd be gone before I knew your name
But it didn't matter much in the end
'cause it all burned down

I was made to throw stones and darken doorways
To burn bridges, then fall and sleep it off
Those blank eyes can't read me
The more I sink, I'm free
To wreck them as I please
A big heart's an easy target
So cash your karma in
Because you're never gonna be like them
No matter how...

Lay me down, pull my hopes from out my mouth
And with a little bit of luck
I'll leave behind all them doubts
I need to keep my feet from leaving the ground
'cause it's breaking me