

Ester why do you look all blue
What did I say to you to make you feel all blue Ester when you walk in the room everybody turns to look at you

And that night when I called you
I was being young
And the way I tried to win you
I was being young, I was being young

Ester why can't you talk to me
Why can't you look at me
Why can't sit with me
Ester with your lips all full
With your heart all full, is there room for two

And that night when I called you
I was being young
And the way I tried to win you
I was being young, I was being young
