Meant To Be In Love

Eleni Mandell

We were meant to be lovers I know the truth Just one more kiss for me Another kiss for you

We were meant to be strangers I'll never tell You may just look away But I know you so well

I know my husband cares for me I know my darling does But when I bear his son He'll look like you because We were meant to be in love

We were meant to be lovers We were meant to be close And when you're lying with another girl I know you love me the most

We were meant to be lonely Yes, this I know It's always you and me I'll never let you go

I know my husband cares for me I know my darling does But when I bear his son He'll look like you because We were meant to be in love
