

Lonely

eleventyseven

It's unexplainable,
No reason or rhyme,
A sun without shine,
My heart decided that it's riding the tide,
Like it's got a mind of its own.

My soul has always been prone to wonder,
And now it's got all of me lost.
There's a phone ringing way up in Heaven,
But they're screening all my calls.

Sometimes I can't help feeling lonely,
I can't help feel lonely,
Even though I know,
I know that I've got you.

Sometimes I can't help feeling lonely,
I can't help feel lonely,
Even though I know,
I'm right here next to you.

All the right words in the world couldn't help in breaking this spell.
My life is like a withering dream just trying to make it to spring.
It seems like everybody has put it all together
But I got the instructions wrong.
There's an angel bringing a song down from Heaven
But I don't feel like singing along.

Sometimes I can't help feeling lonely,
I can't help feel lonely,
Even though I know,
I know that I've got you.

Sometimes I can't help feeling lonely,
I can't help feel lonely,
Even though I know,
I'm right here next to you.

Sometimes I can't help feeling lonely,
I can't help feel lonely,
Even though I know,
I know that I've got you.

Sometimes I can't help feeling lonely,
I can't help feel lonely,
Even though I know,
I'm right here next to you.

Even though I know,
I'm right here next to you.

Even though I know,
I'm right here next to you.
