Elf Power

once a wordly man made his way across the earth he saw a chinese season, emerald trees and the worms laughing in the dirt he would never rise the planets and the stars above and dream a secret dream about the ones he loved once a slippery man made his way across the sea he saw tiny fish and made a wish, and changed into you and me they would float upon their backs to watch the stars above and dream a secret dream about the ones they love
