The world's spinning 'round And I can not escape From this decadence That we're living in So we drink, 'til we forget ourselves Then we find ourselves Lost among everythings I'm crying out loud I feeling tired I used to be proud But I guess I've expired Oh, I know It'd be wrong Oh, I know It'd be wrong But I can't stand to live alone You're my flesh and bone I wanna write you a song I wanna take you home I wanna be your own And in the dawn When I wake up again Closer to the end Than I've ever been If I saw your face I know we could escape To another place where Things could be sinking in I'm crying out loud I feeling tired I used to be proud But I guess I've expired Oh, I know It'd be wrong Oh, I know It'd be wrong But I can't stand to live alone You're my flesh and bone I wanna move to Rome Far away from home Where you could be my own I'm feeling tired... I'm crying out loud I guess I've expired Oh, I know It'd be wrong Oh, I know It'd be wrong But I can't stand to live alone You're my flesh and bone I wanna write you a song I wanna take you home I wanna be your own Be your own I wanna be your own