

Rebirth

Elis

The long summer
Has gone
The autumn leaves
Start to fall
Yesterday I was touched by the breath of winter
His cold fingers searched for my heart
But in my heart I felt the warmth of this summer
So the first snowflakes melted away
The long summer
Has gone
The autumn leaves
Start to fall
I felt the world hold its breath
And everything turned slower
All was silent, softened by the snow
The world is going to sleep now
In a freezing white coat
But I know what I will see its rebirth
Silently
The world's breath is slow
Silently
The first snowflakes fall