

Broken

Elisa

Hard times flowing and my eyes couldn't see stars shining my heart couldn't feel the beauty of the rising sun and I'm lost like a bottle that floats in the sea forever will somebody pick up my hope? will somebody try?
will I realize?

'cause it's broken broken something got broken like stolen, stolen like if it was stolen, and hurting, hurting I have been hurting and now only time will tell time will heal

just pieces of truth that I chose to keep and no matter if now they are gone No matter if I am alone still I can get back on my feet and walk on as I know there was something to learn I know there will always be more worth moving on for though, it's broken broken something got broken like stolen, stolen

like if it was stolen, and hurting hurting
I have been hurting and now
only time will tell

'cause it's broken broken
something got broken like stolen, stolen
like if it was stolen, and hurting, hurting
I have been hurting and now
only time will tell

I'd love to be one of those colourful early summer days when everybody's happy that you came everybody smiles back at you as soon as your eyes cross their eyes but something has to happen first I know winter has to come before it blossoms

So it's broken broken Something got broken like stolen, stolen
Like if it was stolen, and hurting hurting
I have been hurting and now
Only time will tell

'cause it's broken broken
something got broken like stolen, stolen
like if it was stolen, and hurting, hurting
I have been hurting and now
only time will tell

Time will heal