

In The Green

Elisa

Just like Queens, the leaves move gently
As their shadows obey with natural synchronism
Would they mind me? If they knew that I'm here watching
And I am wishing I could dance like them...

They surrender to the strong light changing their colours with the heat
And I certainly don't know where I am, but I know where I want to be

And they're saying
Everything follows everything
Guess I'm trying to believe
Everything follows
I'm trying and someone's singing to me now...

Close to me, no matter how much time we can spend apart
We're still together like we're one
Just like leaves, we will take our chance to fly
And we'll learn not to fear the ground by falling down

Another day to fill up somewhere floating on the line of time
I blow a little wish in my hand, sending it back to the sky

And they're saying
Everything follows everything
Guess I'm trynna believe
Everything follows
I'm trying and someone's singing to me now

And I will be with you again
And I will be with you again
And I...

They're saying
Everything follows everything
I'm trying to believe
Everything follows
I'm trying and someone's singing to me now...
Everything follows
I'm trying, trying to believe
That everything follows
Everything, someone's singing to me

And I will be with you again
And I will be with you again
