

Love as a Kinda War

Elisa

If love is a kind of war
It's cutting like a blade
The scars never show but they go so deep
And they never fade

This love is a kind of war
Why couldn't you just stay
But no you don't even look at me now
Would you tell me straight

We've crossed the line between love and hate this time
I can't remember what the fight is all about Whatever I say you take it the wrong way
And you put me under, you walk away looking so sure

What was that you told me before it's only you who rocks my world
it's only me who loves you so
then why do I keep on feeling

As if love was a kind of war
It's cutting like a blade
The scars never show but they go so deep
And they never fade

And this love is a kind of war
Why couldn't you just stay
But no you don't even look at me now
Would you tell me straight

It never ends and nobody ever wins
I'm running for shelter
I wanna run into your arms

I can't believe we're acting like enemies and then when I hurt you It's like a knife in my own heart

As if not how that was real before
it's only you who rocks my world
it's only me who loves you so
then why do I keep on feeling

As if love was a kind of war
It's cutting like a blade
The scars never show but they go so deep
And they never fade

And this love is a kind of war
Why couldn't you just stay
But no you don't even look at me now
Would you tell me straight

Cause you lock the door
you won't go back anymore

Say that it's over crying, screaming all about - screaming all about
And we had it all and I've got it all wrong you put me under but I wouldn't be so sure

Haven't you heard it all before
it's only you who rocks my world and only me who loves you so
then why do I keep on feeling

As if love was a kind of war
It's cutting like a blade
The scars never show but they go so deep
And they never fade

And this love is a kind of war
Why couldn't you just stay
But no you don't even look at me now
Would you tell me straight, this love

This love is a kind of war
Why couldn't you just stay
No you don't even look at me now
Would you tell me straight

Why you see love, love as a kind of war you see love, love as a kind of war
