Your Manifesto

You think I can't see you think I can't hear you think I won't know how you wanna lead how you only want control you are a clown you like to frown wearing your crown and pulling me down is making you feel so high

Your manifesto's just a psychosis really impressive, well done placebo It's terrifyin'...

You want me to see your majesty step on my feet get into my head to tell me who I should be scatter your word in little crumbs You think I'm a bird? You think I won't give up anything in return...
