

Life Lost

Elitist

The age of man is at it's end time progress for progress sake won't keep us all alive soon we shall the the errors of our ways everything that ends begins the same in a world that's bound to break

[Garrison Lee:]

look deep into yourself and realize that your soul is withering
In this hell in this distraction that keeps us from prospering find the light that is hidden away within In due time break the foundations and build them up again

look through the portal histories secrets are in reach reclaim the memories of our fathers seek perfection from lives once lost illuminate the path that lies before us look inside

we've been asleep for too long it's time to wakeup now

in a world covered by darkness I look out as far as my eyes can see searching for what we are destined to become darkness will covet the light (2x)

we've been asleep for too long it's time to wakeup now (2x)
