

My Friend Is Falling Down

ELLEGARDEN

He's sinking down Sinking like a dead monkey
He looks so pale Throws his burdens on me
A hollow man That's all he is right now
She disappeared and that's the reason why

I should make him slide into new love
He's still waiting for her to call back
I should make him smile on someone new
My friend is falling down

She disappeared and he lost his sight and sense
I tried to find him comfort that would work
All I came up with was such a hackneyed phrase
"Hey half of mankind out there is a female"

I should make him slide into new love
He's still waiting for her to call back
I should make him smile on someone new
My friend is falling down

A hollow man That's all he is right now
She disappeared and that's the reason why

So don't look back the life you have wasted
So don't be sad about the life you wasted on her

I should make him slide into new love
He's still waiting for her to call back
I should make him smile on someone new
My friend is falling down

I should make him slide into new love
He's still waiting for her to call back
I should make him smile on someone new
My friend is falling down