

Can't Outrun Your Love

Ellie Holcomb

I forget You, I forget to remember all You've done
But when I'm broken, and when I've chosen to hide and to run
Where can I go?

Even when the darkness covers me
If I settle on the far side of the sea
No matter what I do I can't outrun Your love
No, I can't outrun Your love

In the shadow, in the sadness Holy Spirit, come
Won't you rise up like a promise on the wings of dawn
You know my heart

Even when the darkness covers me
If I settle on the far side of the sea
No matter what I do I can't outrun Your love
No, I can't outrun Your love

Can't Outrun Your Love (Psalm 139)

You have Your hand upon me, Your spirit lives within me
And You will never let me go
I know Your word will guide me, I know Your arms will hold me
And You will never leave me, no, I can't outrun You

Even when the darkness covers me
If I settle on the far side of the sea
No matter what I do I can't outrun Your love
No, I can't outrun Your love
No, I can't outrun Your love
