I was hell-bent on destroying my powers of concentration While you were living like a saint And all the time the very one you trusted was washing off somebody else's paint

Now you've got yourself a brand new occupation

Every fleeting thought is a pearl

And beautiful people stampede to the doorway of the funniest fucker in the world

They're here to help you Satisfy your desire There's a bright future for all you professional liars

Now you know how to be dumb

Are you ready to take your place in the modern museum of mistakes?

Don't you know how to be dumb?

Like a building thrown up overnight in one of those reverse earthquakes

They emptied out all the asylums, they emptied out all the gaols
The "New Bruise" was the name of a dance craze
By "Jesus Cross and the Cruel Nails"
Followed up by "Torturing Little Beaver"
With their contraption of barbed wire
Between the fear and the fever lies all the rejection they require
They'll be howling by midnight, they'll be drooling by dawn
Skulls shrunk down to the size of their brains
Heads shaven and shorn

Now you know how to be dumb Are you ready to take your place in the modern museum of mistakes? Don't you know how to be dumb? Like a building thrown up overnight in one of those reverse earthquakes

Trapped in the House of the Perpetual Sucker Where bitterness always ends so pitifully You always had to dress up your envy in some half-remembered philosophy

Now you're masquerading as pale powdered genius

Whose ever bad intention has been purged
You could've walked out any time you wanted but face it you didn't have the courage
I guess that makes you a full time hypocrite or some kind of twisted dilettante
Funny though people don't usually get so ugly till they think they know what they want
Scratch your own head stupid
Count up to three
Roll over on your back
Repeat after me

Don't you know how to be dumb?

Are you ready to take your place in the modern museum of mistakes?

Don't you know how to be dumb?

Like a building thrown up overnight in one of those reverse earthquakes