

Moon Woman li

Elvis Perkins

It hasn't been this bright
In a century and a third
At this time of night
In the great wide world

The moon is overhead
Her light shines down on me
It's lovely how it hits the deck
Making shadows of the trees

Does anybody have a light?
I'm cold as a stone
And it's dark in the night
And i'm up here all alone

You've got this power over me
My shadow hungers for you
But we must not ever meet
No, we've got to play it cool

Get yourself a life
Give yourself another name
Become somebodies wife
It'll ease up all the shame

Does anybody love you?
Does anybody love you?

Well I've got to go get waxed
I can't have shadows by noon
You just stay put and relax
I'll be round again soon

Does anybody have a light?
I'm cold as a stone
And it's dark in the night
And I'm up here all alone

Does anybody love you?
Does anybody love you?
