

Remember how you found me
Under a low bent half moon
I must have been singing to you
I've never left the water
But I once knew some flying fish
Thought I'd forget how to swim
I am your mermaid
I give to you freely
But soon as you see me I'm gone
I am your mermaid
Tangled but blissful
Knock me a kissful of nectar, honey
The water is hot and you hold my head
The sores of the day slip through the shore's threads
I'd never felt such rapture
A glimpse at the lighthouse
Undo myself from your hanging mouth
I am your mermaid
Tangled but blissful
Knock me a kissful of nectar, honey
I am your mermaid
I'll open your mortal need
You planted your opal seed of love
I am your mermaid
