

Our Fate

Elysion

For heaven you're craving, of which you're deprived
The lust that you're having is never satisfied
A moment of weakness, that's when you appeared
The cruelty I've witnessed is no more present here

No more lying
Self denying
You've sealed your fate

No coming back to you
All the tears I've cried get your coming back to me denied
A million lies you've put me through
Now the spark has died
There's no coming back to you, no coming back to us

I'm shutting all windows and sealing the doors
I did let you come close, but I'll be never yours
I'll shiver in fear, for memories to fade
I've wished you were here, but now it's just too late

No more lying
Self denying
You've sealed your fate

No coming back to you
All the tears I've cried get your coming back to me denied
A million lies you've put me through
Now the spark has died
There's no coming back to you, no coming back to us

For long I have waited for tears to dry out
Now everything in my head cries out our chance is long gone
No matter how badly I've wished otherwise
Everything whispers that you have sadly sealed our fate

No coming back to you
All the tears I've cried get your coming back to me denied
A million lies you've put me through
Now the spark has died
There's no coming back to you, no coming back to us