

1996 on Bevard

Emarosa

It pays to be insane,
Indiana rain.
I let go.
And I made the same mistakes,
Sleeping in the flame.
I lost hope
Just to be alone.

Afraid I'll be my father and fade away.
We almost sound the same.
Afraid I'll be forgotten but I can't change.

I need to hear you say please don't look away.
I still want to let you let me in even when it ends
If you need to love me.
Love me patiently just until you see I'm giving up
And just to make sure I've wasted all doubt.
Just to make sure please wake me up now,
And what won't let me down is my fear.

Afraid I'll be my father and fade away.
We almost sound the same.
Afraid I'll be forgotten but I can't change.

I'm broken and it's hurting,
And all you say is love me too.
Don't take it if you know it's not enough,
Maybe I'll be more tomorrow.

Afraid I'll be my father and fade away.
We almost sound the same.
Afraid I'll be forgotten but I can't change.
