

Jesus Plays A Firebird

Emarosa

Wait! before you go.. just leave love, beloved,
dance, dance i will watch, smile as it burns.

in your white room
pictures fade away.
so quiet im losing my voice,
with your voice

tonite we dance,
and fade all so quietly away.
with looks on fire she lured him she said with words of a bitter past our future may lie a lesser known fiction, my salvation my destroyer you leave me wreckless and without, so wreckless and without.

there's no one above you, these words hold true and if i found you id love you forever

these thoughts that i have thought without you feed a blackened heart.

i see a light,
and its my life,
my question to the night i ask will you ever hear my song?

two worlds remain in harmony as i stand by myself.... my god
help me to find a way to reach to you without falling apart myself,
my conscience-
a reason to mask all of my doubts if i ever felt brushed with your greatness, i would always know i'd only weigh us down.
and when it all ends,

i felt nothing at all
