

Same Tight Rope

Emarosa

Nothing left running alone.
Everything was moving fast,
Keeping pace with planes above.
Nothing ever seems to last.
I'm sorry you can't see where I'm running from,
I hope to get away.
Forget the way I sing the same old songs,
But I always sing along.

When all is said and done.
On the run it's not where I want to be,
No, it'll all remain the same if I change.
You'll see oh my love is it ever enough?
Because everybody seem to feel the same,
And I don't know if I have a line,
A line to make you want to wait.
So now I'm guilt stricken silent with my head on the floor,
And I'll never be the same.
So to get away forget the way I play
The same old songs and make the same mistakes.

When all is said and done,
On the run it's not where I want to be.
No, it'll all remain the same if I change.
You'll see me when it's done.

And I'm learning not to love.
Part of me going through emotions I can't show,
Going through the motions of regret.
I let go.
And I'm learning I'm alone suddenly living in the moment.
You both know you're falling from the same tight rope.

When all is said and done,
On the run it's not where I want to be.
No, it'll all remain the same if I change.
You'll see me when it's done.
