

Feelings I Thought You Shared

Embrace

A feelings I thought you shared
Was never there
But still you turned around pretending that you cared

With every lie, you make it hard
You've got to let somebody down
Before you go too far

And I feel something that you can't do
About the way you feel you've been

A feeling can't be repaired
If it's not there
You've got to walk around pretending that you care

Then your time will come too soon
You're gonna break somebody's heart
Before you go too far

Just hear, there's nothing no one can do
About the way they feel inside

Before you try and mend what you've done
Realise that there's nothing that you've done wrong
That we can't mend
