Many Will Learn

Embrace

Many would learn and many would hurt And many would chase you away And many would fear but I'm not here To run when things go astray

And many would learn and many would turn And many would run for their lives But I'm not them, I'll dig in I'll always be there by your side

Away way down

One day my heart will leap And I will dance for joy And not reach for the phone The pills or the tape

Cause you're as honest as a car wreck And sirens never love They just sing and lure your swimming soul away Down with your mistakes

Away way down

By twist of fate an hour too late
I come to my senses again
But you're not here just cold
And near you left just as living made sense
