Satellites

Embrace

As water laps my feet Sharks surround me I sleep You smile and line up your army But my enemies can't get near me

Because I claimed victory
That day now I'm calm
I have seen in your eyes
How much you suffer in the dark

Where shining stars light the heaven We satellites hope to reach And my black water reflects them for me

Come on let's make our move They won't see a thing That they can't see through

And shining stars light the heaven
We satellites hope to reach
And my black water reflects them for me for me

Where shining stars light the heaven We satellites can't compete And my black water reflects them for me

And redemption will pour And crashes to the floor And a million cold thoughts Won't stop you feeling warm

Because the luck that you bring Conquers all these things
