

Maybe

Emeli Sandé

When we first moved in together,
Couldn't keep hands off each other,
Now we're lying back to back,
And silence in the black.
We used to laugh until we cried,
You would look at me and smile,
Now we hardly say hello,
And feelings never show.
And all the signs seem to say love is lost,
But I don't wanna give up what we've got.

Maybe you could stay a bit longer,
I could try a bit harder,
We could make this work.
But maybe we should stop pretending,
We both know we're hurting,
Maybe it's time to go.

We broke up last Sunday night,
Keep on thinking 'bout the fight,
Rest my head against the wall,
Your bags are by the door.
Then your key turns in the lock,
You see me on the stairs and stop.
Have you had a change of heart?
Can we go back to the start?
But all the signs seem to say love is lost,
But I don't wanna give up yet because...

Maybe you could stay a bit longer,
I could try a bit harder,
We could make this work,
But maybe we should stop pretending,
We both know we're hurting,
Maybe it's time to go.

Maybe it's time to go
(Maybe it's time to go)
Maybe it's time to go (go)
We can make it work
We can make it work.

Maybe you could stay a bit longer,
I could try a bit harder,
We could make this work.
But maybe we should stop pretending,
Both of us are hurting,
Maybe it's time to go.

Maybe it's time to go.
Maybe we could make this work.
Maybe it's time to go.
Maybe we could make this work.
Maybe it's time to go.
