The Frozen World

Émilie Simon

Won't you open for me
The door to your ice world
To your white desert

I just want to stare
Out over these snowfields
Until we are one again

We belong to the frozen world

When the ice begins to thaw Becomes the sea Oh, you will see How beautiful we can be

Everything is calm
At the end of the planet
In our white desert

The sun kissed the ice
It glistens for me
And we are one again
We belong to the frozen world

When the ice begins to thaw Becomes the sea Oh, you will see How beautiful we can be

When the ice begins to thaw Becomes the sea
