

Revival

Eminem

I've drowned in high from the ashes now I can't recall your laughter
The smoke of every single grasp but ends of what's left over

And the lights in every broken blown our window screaming, laughing

I love to feel the course hang out

This is our revival