

Half Sorry

Emm Gryner

Thank God I've got three minutes to tell you what I did today
I left this ugly city, with a computer and your cabaret
And I am happy for you, as happy as I can be burning alive
Is Paris as green as you say that it is
You can fill me in sometime
This is me without you, standing in the air I breathe
And I am half sorry that I came
This is me without you, standing in the air I breathe
And I am half sorry that I came around for you
I listened to your point of view, while mine went up in smoke
So go where their skin's the same shade as mine
And remember me, I hope you will
And I'm slowly getting there, the place between love and I don't care
You should have seen me on tuesday night
I will fill you in sometime
This is me without you, standing in the air I breathe
And I am half sorry that I came
This is me without you, standing in the air I breathe
And I am half sorry that I came around for you
I miss you but you don't care anymore
I miss you but you don't care anymore
I miss you but you don't care anymore
I miss you but you don't care
Thank God I've got three minutes to tell you what I did today
I left this ugly city, with a computer and your cabaret
And I am happy for you, as happy as I can be burning alive
Is Paris as green as you say that it is
You can fill me in sometime
