

Midnight and Martinis

Emma Bunton

La da, la da,

Sunlight in my eyes
Break away to a paradise
That I find
Every time I think of you

Clear view, night to day
Shadows fading into grey
Easily
When I feel you come to me

I wanna ride on the bliss of this high
Before the dream gets old
And run away to a place yours and mine
That nobody knows
All it really takes is,

Midnight and martinis
With a twist and shake of you
A little breeze on my bikini, ocean blue
I wanna drift until the edge
Where the beach meets sunset
So give me midnight and martinis
Here with you

La da, la da, ,

Delicate to the touch
Meeting you like a velvet rush
Moving close
Take me in, don't let me go

Cause I wanna ride on the bliss of this high
Before the dream gets old (dream gets old)
And run away to a place yours and mine
That nobody knows
All it really takes is,

Midnight and martinis
With a twist and shake of you (twist and shake of you)
A little breeze on my bikini, ocean blue (ocean blue)
I wanna drift until the edge
Where the beach meets sunset (sunset)
So give me midnight and martinis
Here with you (here with you)

Red skies glowing
Feels like floating
Just wanting you is not enough
So won't you fill me up

Midnight and martinis
With a twist and shake of you (twist and shake of you)
A little breeze on my bikini, ocean blue (oh, ocean blue)
I wanna drift until the edge (drift until the edge)
Where the beach meets sunset (beach meets sunset)

So give me midnight and martinis
Here with you (here with you)

I wanna drift until the edge (drift until the edge)
Where the beach meets sunset (beach meets sunset)
So give me midnight and martinis
Here with you
