

Not Enough

Emmylou Harris

Oh my darling I miss you so
How I loved you you'll never know
Though it's time for me to let you go
Oh my darling I'll miss you so

Can't believe you're really gone for good
I still hold on to places you once stood
I should move on but I never could Really believe you're gone for good

Oh my friend, what could I do?
I just came home to bury you
The road is long, the road is rough
You're in my heart, that's not close enough

All those years disappear
All my tears are not enough, not enough
How can it be the ties that bind
Cut down deep and are so unkind?
When we lose them we will never find
Anything stronger than the ties that bind

I still have your memory
One or two pictures of you and me
Life is long and life is tough
But when you love someone
Life is not long enough
