Thanks to You

Emmylou Harris

Well goodness is it really real It would take a baby child to know the way I feel On my flutter in the blue I would take the credit but it's thanks to you

Oh yeah I'm a sinner And I ain't some beginner I'll uncork a pint of trouble And sit down and drink a double

I'm thirsty for somethin' lighter That'll get me even tighter And tighter until one day I think, I hear angels play

Goodness is it really real It would take a baby child to know the way I feel On my flutter in the blue I would take the credit but it's thanks to you

Now someday up in glory Well I'll weep and tell the story To someone who will smile and say "You're a mess but you're my child"

Goodness is it really real It would take a baby child to know the way I feel On my flutter in the blue I would take the credit but it's thanks to you

Now someday up in glory Well I'll weep and tell the story To someone who will smile and say "You're a mess but you're my child"

Goodness is it really real It would take a baby child to know the way I feel On my flutter in the blue I would take the credit but it's thanks to you

Goodness is it really real It would take a baby child to know the way I feel On my flutter in the blue I would take the credit but it's thanks to you

Well goodness is it really real It would take a baby child to know the way I feel On my flutter in the blue I would take the credit but it's thanks to you