

Maelstrom

Empires

You stand for nothing
You're losing you grip on reality
You stand before the throne of corruption
You watch with lustful eyes as evil enters your mind
A disease consuming everything in your wayward life
The dark one never sleeps
You believe in blasphemy because of your lack of faith
You walk with the enemy
You're just a lost soul on puppet strings
Somewhere along the way you turned your back on the truth

You keep running away from your everything
Why are you so afraid

I think it's time you put your pride below
We all have our demons but we have to let them go
You don't have to act like you're the only one that feels alone
This world is cold, You better watch your back
Nothing is what it seems
You always wonder why you live with consistent lies
One day you'll come to find he has a purpose for your life

You keep running away from your everything
Why are you so afraid
You keep your heart in a cage
When will you say what you mean

Your ignorance will be your demise