Riddle

One little riddle Two little, three little Four little riddle Five little, six little Seven little riddle Eight little riddle Now you know You gotta go One little riddle Two little, three little Four little riddle Five little, six little Seven little riddle Eight little riddle Now you know You gotta go Monday morning was the first time That I noticed something strange Now I know with your kiss was not the same Was it all just in my mind? Or was it something I should pay attention to? Then on Tuesday, having lunch with friends I thought I saw your car Leaving from our favorite restaurant but too far For my eyes to see what I feel Would be heartbreaking if I saw was true, who One little riddle Two little, three little Four little riddle Five little, six little Seven little riddle Eight little riddle Now you know You gotta go One little riddle Two little, three little Four little riddle Five little, six little Seven little riddle Eight little riddle Now you know You gotta go Wednesday evening Every time the phone would rang You'd say hello When I'd come around you'd say I got to go You're friends never called line two before And I don't know nobody named Tyrone Oh now it's Thursday You left the house to go to work an hour early You said you had some papers for your boss to sign But you left your briefcase home

En Vogue

And when I called you job They said you were not there oh yeah One little riddle Two little, three little Four little riddle Five little, six little Seven little riddle Eight little riddle Now you know You gotta go One little riddle Two little, three little Four little riddle Five little, six little Seven little riddle Eight little riddle Now you know You gotta go Friday night Is the night we've always had our weekend date But you showed up at the house extremely late Without any conversation you just went to bed And said that you're head ached Now it's the weekend And you know that it's the day I do my cleaning And when I washed your shirts I just could not believe I'm picking hair weave off your seam Found a letter in your pocket from the week, please One little riddle Two little, three little Four little riddle Five little, six little Seven little riddle Eight little riddle Now you know You gotta go You gotta go You gotta go You fool! One little riddle Two little, three little Four little riddle Five little, six little Seven little riddle Eight little riddle Now you know You gotta go
