

Whatever Will Be Will Be

En Vogue

Got a letter just the other day
So much was left unsaid
When you went away
How my heart grew so cold
From the misery of dreams ago

An open envelope
The last time that we spoke
You said that you would always be my man
And now this letter's here
What will you say my dear
To bring me to emotions once again
The truth of it you say
There's never been day
That you're not sorry you apologize
But life teaches new things
Beyond the pain it brings
You to a place where you are truly wise

Que sera sera
What will be will be
I'm happy for you and me
That we can finally see what was meant
Que sera sera
What will be will be
I'm happy for you and me
That we can finally see what was meant

I know we've made mistakes
Cause love is give and take
I mean to say it wasn't all your fault
I too had some regrets
Such pain I've felted yet
It's better to have love than not at all
The memories we had of all the good and bad
Has helped me be the woman that I am
So don't apologize
I've come to realize
Just what is meant by all in love is fair

Que sera sera
What will be will be
I'm happy for you and me
That we can finally see what was meant
Que sera sera
What will be will be
I'm happy for you and me
That we can finally see what was meant

Sometimes it's just not meant to be
But the love that we share goes on and on Spiritually there'll be no more crying
No and there'll be no more lying no no no no
And the truth that we gained will offset the pain
And now we finally see

Que sera sera

What will be will be
I'm happy for you and me
That we can finally see what was meant
Que sera sera
What will be will be
I'm happy for you and me
That we can finally see what was meant

Hmm hmm hey ooh yeah oh
Ooh
