

No quarter shall be called loud
His cries echo by, like a river's endless flow
To wear away the stone, carve his life like a knife
The scars he'll never show

Broken dreams shatter the still
I'm invincible, unbeatable
Splintered hearts and lacking the will
I'm unstoppable, untouchable

The battle's just begun, he's standing ground
Tall and proud, despite the wind that blows
As most his comrades fall like toppled trees
In the breeze where roots none deep had grown
Roots none deep had grown

Broken dreams shatter the still
I'm invincible, unbeatable
Splintered hearts lacking the will
I'm unstoppable, untouchable

In your dance of indecision
I never realized just how frail you'd be
Cracks have shown in your foundation
Castles made of sand crumble eventually

Soon the smoke will clear then we'll see
You and me, just who's king of the hill
The oceans swell with rage, earth did quakes
The bow may break, know I'll be standing still I'll be standing still

Broken dreams shatter the still
I'm invincible, unbeatable
Splintered hearts and lacking the will
I'm unstoppable, untouchable
I'm invincible, splintered hearts, untouchable