End of Green

I breathe the air that you leave me disease i teach you everything i need, oh i need everything so don't stop killing me thrilling me just keep on planting your hate on me i bleed the blood you leave me decease, i teach you everything i need, oh i need nothingness so don't stop this killing me thrilling me just keep on planting your hate on me i carry all of yours through landscapes seems like the scenes will never end we're walking in line miles from nowhere i carry your lies, you should smile little thing watch your world going down at the end of the spring i carry our lies i carry our hate it's better you leave than take your last breath
